

EXHIBIT G

tudiabetes.org®

a community of people touched by diabetes, a program of the Diabetes Hands Foundation

diabetes hands foundation

home my page members forum blogs groups events media other programs donate chat

All Discussions My Discussions

+ Add

Welcome to TuDiabetes

Join or Sign In

ADVERTISEMENT

t:slim®
Insulin Pump

Learn more about the first touch screen
insulin pump.

touch simplicity™

TANDEM® DIABETES CARE

Using GenStrips

Posted by Leo2 on April 14, 2013 at 5:05am in Type 1 Diabetes Forum View Discussions

I received my first GenStrip test strips and read the package insert. In red print it says "for use only with the Ultra, Ultra 2 and Ultra Mini Meters purchased before July 2010."
This hasn't been said in any of the ads I saw online, so thought it might be useful information to have before purchase.

Tags: strips, test

Like

Share Twitter Like 0

Views: 234

► Reply to This

Replies to This Discussion

Reply by MegaMinxX on April 15, 2013 at 6:59pm

thanks for the heads up. I did some searches and only found a similar warning buried in an FDA document.
I also see the price is approx .50 per strip. Given that there are several other low-cost strips available (for example, I found Contour Next for <$50 for 100ct), and low cost strips/meters at Walmart, Target, Kroger etc, I don't think I'd consider using Genstrips. I guess the only advantage is those that don't want to switch meters, especially if you have cables and download/management software. Or maybe it's related to what insurance will cover. I have several One Touch meters, but for sure can't tell which ones I purchased prior to 2010 !

► Reply

Reply by Jaybyrd on May 11, 2013 at 7:04am

Heres a David and Goliath story, its a good read.
<http://www.marketwire.com/press-release/decision-diagnostics-corp-i...>

► Reply

